

Ryan Szymanski is currently employed as President of Edwards Communities Development Company in Columbus, OH. In this role, he is involved in all aspects of the development process for the company's student housing and multi-family developments. He holds both a Bachelor of Science in Mechanical Engineering (2002) and a Master of Business Administration (2008) from The Ohio State University. Before obtaining his MBA, he spent 4 years as an officer in the United States Navy as an instructor at the Naval Nuclear Power Training Command in Charleston, SC.